Background

Article 243G of the Constitution of India envisages Panchayats to be functioning as institutions of self-government and to implement activities centering on 29 matters mentioned in the 11th Schedule, aiming at economic development and social justice. But, even after 28 years of the Constitutional amendment leading to establishment of Panchayati Raj system in rural India, a majority of Gram Panchayats (GP) across India are yet to achieve the goal. In view of this, NIRDPR initiated in 2019 an Action Research Project, mainly with corporate support, to create Model GP Clusters to motivate other GPs – to reach up to 100+ Clusters covering 500+ GPs in 55 districts across 11 States. In June 2020, to expand the scope of creating Model GP Clusters, the Ministry of Panchayati Raj (MoPR), Government of India approved in favour of NIRDPR a Project for Creating 250 Model GP Clusters to cover another 1103 GPs. Thus, the two Phases of the Project were expected to develop around 350 Model GP Clusters having around 1600 GPs across India. The MoPR accorded final approval to the Project in a meeting of the Central Empowered Committee for RGSA held on 23.06.2020. But some unforeseen complications related to recruitment of Project Staff delayed the process of implementation of the Project.

Outcomes Expected from this Training Programme

It is expected that this residential Training Programme will enable the SPCs and the YFs to attain substantial capacity (in terms of knowledge, awareness, attitude, skills and self-confidence) about the Panchayati Raj system, particularly functioning of GPs as institutions of self-government and more particularly the issues related to institutional strengthening of GPs, good governance, service delivery, outlines of major rural development programmes and enablement of quality GPDP. It is further expected that they will attain deeper understanding about the roles and responsibilities of the partner organisations/stakeholders in effective implementation and monitoring of the Project for creating exemplary instances. It is also expected that they will deeply understand their own roles and responsibilities and the tasks to be performed by them including Handholding Support to the Project GPs on mission mode and in an out-of-the-box manner to help them gradually grow and demonstrate themselves as Model GPs.
